FREE SEMINAR - LISMORE

Introduction to the new Work Health and Safety Laws

What will these Seminars cover?

- Key changes
- Who has duties under the new WHS Act
- New obligations for employers
- Consultation requirements

Who should attend?

Farmers, Farm Managers, Employers, Business Operators, Business Decision Makers, Employees.

As part of a move to nationally consistent health and safety laws, the Work Health and Safety Act will replace the existing OHS Act commencing from 1 January 2012. With only a few months for business operators to review and update their existing health and safety systems to align them with the new requirements, NSW Farmers is delivering seminars across the State aimed at providing information and insight into the new laws.

PHONE TRAINING SESSIONS

If you are a Member of NSW Farmers and cannot make any of the seminars please contact us to arrange for a 30 minute telephone training session. Phone training sessions are only available to Members.
